About

WERM Flooring is made from virgin and recycled rubber bonded by a two part urethane compound. The product is poured into place and troweled onto the floor much like finished concrete, no custom cutting required. The finished floor is one half to five eighths inches thick and impervious to liquids. The WERM product completely seals the floor creating a slip resistant, sanitary, seamless and cushioned floor. The WERM system relies on surface drains to remove waste water from barn areas, reducing odors and insects. The flooring can be installed over many sub-surfaces including concrete, metal, wood and asphalt resulting in a low maintenance surface that is durable and shock-absorbing.
